Ms Wenda Lew joined the green building industry about five years ago and has not looked back, strongly believing that her work serves an important mission towards built environment liveability in the years and decades to come. Working together with building owners and her team of dedicated engineers, Wenda is constantly on the look out for new ways and ideas to reduce energy consumption in buildings. She has taken a number of existing buildings through energy reduction and conversation projects, helping them to achieve substantial energy savings and the BCA Green Mark Platinum rating. These include Ngee Ann City, The Adelphi, High Street Centre, Maxwell House and the Amara Sanctuary Resort Sentosa.
